PREACHER AND WOMAN FOUND DEAD, CLASPED TOGETSER.

The Rev. W. C. Rabe and Augusta Busch Asphyxiated in the Pastor's Study at Omaha.

DEATH OF THE COUPLE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN ACCIDENTAL.

Bodies Discovered by a Janitor-Both of the Victims Held in High Esteem in Church Circles.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 5.-Clasped in each other's arms, lying on the floors of the pastor's study in the German Baptist Church, Oscar Berndes, janitor of the church, early to-day discovered the dead bodies of Rev. W. C. Rabe, pastor, and Augusta Busch, a missionary and assistant to the pastor. Death had been caused by asphyxiation. The room was filled with gas, a jet and a burner of a small stove being partly turned on. The woman's head was on some cushions. They had evidently lain in that posi-WANTED-Men to learn barber trade. Rapid tion for several hours. There seems to be little doubt that death was accidental. It is believed that the pair had fallen asleep, the stove flame blew out and the gas escaped. The bodies were rigid and stiff and death had evidently occurred during the early hours of the previous evening. The coroner took charge of the remains and will hold an inquest to-mor-

Miss Busch roomed at the home of Janitor Berndes, No. 2635 Seward street, and been duly warned that organized labor Mr. Rabe lived at the home of Harry Dirksen, at No. 2732 Parker street. Yesterday morning Miss Busch went to the Dirksen home and remained there all day and until about 9 o'clock in the evening engaged in sewing. She left for her home at the Berndes residence alone, and it is thought probable she met the preacher while returning home, and that the two then went to the study in the rear of the church, where the tragedy occurred. They had always been good friends, but no stronger feeling is said to have made itself apparent to those who knew them. Mrs. Berndes supposed the dead woman was in her room until Mrs. Schalkau, housekeeper for Rev. Rabe, came and said Mr. Rabe had not been at home during the night. Then it was discovered that Miss Busch had not occupied her room. Each failing to return home during the night occasioned a search for them this movement now beginning. morning. The janitor went to the pastor's study and found the door locked and the key on the inside. From a crack beneath the door he smelled the escaping gas. He summened a police officer and the door was broken open. In the center of the very small study the bodies lay, the heads just a few feet from the door. The woman's face was covered with froth and had begun to turn purple. One gas jet above the pastor's table was partly turned off and from a stove gas was slowly escaping. The door from the study opening into the auditorium of the church was slightly open and the auditorium was filled with gas. The officer notified the coroner and the remains were taken to the morgue. It was thought at first that the two had committed suicide, for on the table was an open letter, a neatly arranged bouquet, the preacher's watch and glasses and his hat, Miss Busch's gloves and handkerchief, and her jacket neatly folded on the back of a chair. The room was orderly, as though it had just been cleaned. The letter was written in German, and when interpreted was found to be an answer to another letter which Mr. Rabe had received. There was nothing in it to indicate that the two had intended taking their lives.

Around the front and side of the church building, at Twenty-sixth and Seward streets, a large crowd stood as the bodies were taken from the building. To Miss Ottolie Noerling particularly was the death of the two a shock, and she was almost prostrated. Miss Noerling is about eighteen years of age and arrived in Omaha on a morning train from Louisville, Ky., en route to Denver. She stopped off for a few | made perpetual, for we are of opinion that days to visit Miss Busch. She arrived at they have resulted in causing traffic all the room of the dead woman just as the over the country to be carried on the pubnews was taken there that she was dead. Mr. Rabe was fifty-four years old and published tariffs synonymous." came to Omaha from Buffalo, N. Y., when he was chosen pastor of the German Baptist Church. In New York he left a wife, who is attending a missionary school, and one son, Carl, of whom he often spoke to 800.00 his friends. He was held in high esteem by his congregation. He roomed with two young men named Dirksen and kept a housekeeper. The parents of the young men recently died, and Mr. Rabe remained with the boys to take care of them. Miss Busch was thirty-one years old and had been a missionary in Omaha for the last five years. She came here from Chicago. She, too, was held in high esteem and was very popular. She had a brother. believed to be in Michigan, but for some time she had had no trace of him, and his address is unknown to her friends. Her by Secretary Ellis, showed that during the trunk, containing many letters which will fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, the gross 100.00 likely lead to the location of her relatives, has been taken in charge by the coroner. Parishioners of the church say that no one had noticed any undue intimacy between the young woman and her pastor. They say that she was frequently thrown 415.04 in company with the clergyman in the course of her missionary labor, but no one had the least suspicion that they were other than pastor and missionary in their relations toward each other. In a sort of autobiography found among the papers of the dead woman she had written that she was born in east Prussia Nov. 13, 1871. In the sketch she referred to her conversion and entrance into the training school at Chicago and of her life at a brother's home in Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago. The paper was dated a year ago. She was a petite and shapely woman of the blonde type and was plainly but tastefully dressed in a striped waist and walking skirt, wearing a gray felt hat. Of the ministry and home life of Mr. Rabe the members of his congregation bear testimony of the greatest praise. He was a finely educated man and had graduated from Harvard College with distinction. Coroner Brailey made a careful and systematic investigation of the circumstances surrounding the tragedy and believes that the gas stove was turned on accidentally. The investigation showed that it was possible to turn off the light jet, at the same time touching the valve in the pipe leading to the stove, opening it partly, the two valves being but a few inches apart. This the coroner believes was done. Miss Busch Was Well Known.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 .- Officers of the Baptist Missionary Training School of this 90.00, city, refused to give credence to the report from Omaha that Miss Augusta Busch, a 3,500.00 | former student in the college, was found dead in that city to-day under suspicious 625.00 circumstances. Miss Busch came to Chicago in 1895 and entered the training school, where she took a two years' course in Bible study, graduating from the institution in 1897. Since going to Omaha she has been doing good work, according to reports received by the executives of the school here. Mrs. Mary D. Burdet, secretary and treasurer of the Society of Baptist Training School, which is located at 2411 Indiana avenue, said that before Miss Busch entered her school course she lived in Oak Park, and that she was a weman thirty years old and had the reputation of living a moral and religious life. She is well known to the citizens of Oak Park.

RAILWAY WAGE QUESTION

THE ONLY THING THAT NOW DIS-TURBS THE GENERAL SITUATION.

Earnings of the Pennsylvania Lines for September and Nine Months-General Railway News.

A prominent railroad official viho has just returned from a Western trip expresses the opinion that the business conditions warrant the highest hope for the continued prosperity of the railroads for the current year. Gross earnings are showing handsome increases, but he fears that net earnings will not fairly reflect the true condition in the country. He assigns as a reason that labor is unsettled and its demands imperative. The railroads have wages in the near future, taking little account of the fact that in various depart-Neither is any account, apparently, taken of the fact that in hard times the railroads paid their labor better than they really could afford. The unions are better organized, he says, better led and more closely related and connected than ever before. He thinks the plan is for the machinists to start it and the other unions to cally for a 20 per cent, increase over the existing scale, and may be accompanied by the threat of a general strike unless the demand is met. He thinks there will be a compromise, probably on a 10 per cent. advance, but that the net earnings next year will show very clearly the effect of the

Discrimination in Rates. Members of the Interstate-commerce Commission assembled in Chicago yesterday and will begin to-day an investigation relative to the charge by the Chicago Live Stock Association to the effect that discriminating rates against live stock are in effect in the West. The sessions of the commission promise to be interesting, as the railroads are prepared to defend the existing rates, which are in violation of a ruling of the commission to the effect that the rate on the raw material shall not be greater than that on the manufactured product. Railroads between Chicago and the Missouri river are charging 18 and 20 cents on packing house products and 231/2 cents on

Chairman Knapp, of the commission, said last night that they purposed going fully into the matter with a view to making a ruling that would govern unmistakably in the matter. With reference to rates in general, Mr. Knapp said: "The commission has found the rate situation better in the last few months than it ever has been since the passage of the interstate-commerce act. In my judgment the injunctions issued by the United States courts restraining cut rates and preferences have been effectual and have proved a splendid thing for both the railroads and the shippers. The commission would therefore like to see them lished tariffs. They have made actual and

It is stated that the Pennsylvania has under consideration the appointment of a terminal superintendent to have supervision over the ards of all the divisions of the Panhandle entering Columbus, O. The pay rolls of the shops of the Vandalia are now over $50,000 a month against $35,000 a month two years ago. A large per cent. of the increase is in wages of employes; however, more man are employed than two from northwest Canada. Joseph Ramsey president of the Wabash, was in Pittsburk yesterday and will be question of the new passenger station, and will also, it is thought, open bids for the construction of the Little Kanawha extension in West Virginia. The heavy freight traffic on the Pennsylvania has cauted a shortage of freight brakemen and conductors that it has proven hard to fill. Marly of the older brakemen on the different livisions are acting conductors for the time, and their places must be filled with new men.

The Erie opened a new station at Olean on Monday. The building is 102 feet in length and constructed of Bradford red pressed brick, with Warsaw bluestone trimming. A stone platform runs around the entire building, with a shed extending from the western end sixty-five feet in length.

The Golden State limited, put on last Sunday by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, reduces the time between New York and Los Angeles five hours. This takes into account the reduction of four hours which was made by the Lake Shore, the New York Central and the Pennsylvania with the Twentieth Century and Special limited trains, the Rock Island train connecting

The Huntington News-Democrat makes the statement that the division headquarters of the Wabsh may be re-established at Andrews, Ind. Now that Mr. Gould has left the Wabash, he being instrumental in moving the headquarters and shops from Andrews to Peru, and as repairs have been started on the building at Andrews there may be some truth in the statement. C. L. Nichols, formerly superintendent of the Illinois division of the Rock Island, has been made superintendent of the Nebraska division of the road, with headquarters at Fairbury, Neb. F. O. Melcher, of the Boston & Maine road will take Nichols's place.

H. O. Sworthwood was made assistant superintendent of telegraph of the Rock sland in place or A. R. Lingfelt, resigned. It is stated that the railroad kings have renewed the war on private car lines. J. P. Morgan, E. H. Harriman, H. H. Porter and W. K. Vanderbilt are said to be behind the movement in the effort to eradicate the owners ip of car lines by ship-pers. From small beginnings the private car system has grown to such magnitude that the railroads last year paid the owners $12,000,000 in mileage and $6,000,000 for the use of refrige ator cars. R. M. Norton, chief clerk in the office of General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer, of the Pennsylvania & Northwestern system, has accepted a similar position on the Santa Fe Central and is succeeded by D. F. Williams. Mr. Norton leaves his present work after a service of twenty years. The Santa Fe Centra! is a line of about 150 miles, connects with the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and opens up extensive new mining and forest lands.

The retirement of E. F. Cost from the position of freight traffic manager of the Big Four lines leaves all the Vanderbilt roads but one, the Lake Shore, without a traffic manager or any one discharging those functions. An impression prevails that the intention is to connect under one traffic supervision all the roads of the system, and that G. J. Crammar, who holds Shore, will be appointed to the position. The Pittsburg & Lake Erie has under consideration the establishing of a school consideration the establishing of a school for instruction of agents and clerks. A traveling agent has been appointed to instruct the agents and their clerks as to the proper methods of transacting business. The agent assumed the duties of the position yesterday. After the plan has been tried for a month the school of instruction will be established. Colonel Schoonmaker will be established. Colonel Schoonmaker. vice president and general manager of the

He Got the Material for His Novels at Second Hand. The Argonaut.

Zola claimed to be a realist; according to the canons of realism, he claimed to write that which he saw, when he saw it, and as he sav it. Yet Zola did none of these things. 'He got information at second hand, he : crammed for certain scenes and for particular episodes. Being a typical French bourgeois, born in a bourgeois environment, and with bourgeois parents, he was a narrow, calculating, sordid sort of person, unventuresome, unromantic, with a disposition to hoard money as his peasant ancestors had put it away in grimy stockings. He was the cocaine, mur., $4.05@4.25. typical French bourgeois, prudent, petty. thrifty, and he soon married a female bourgeoise, after his own kind. No lawless loves ever disturbed the methodical heart which beat beneath Zola's immaculate shirt front. No wild desire to consort with loose gentlemen or light ladies ever made his decorous pulse beat quicker. When he wanted to "cram" with reminiscences of the alcove, with gossip from behind the scenes, with the oaths and slang of the low drinking dens of themselves," and to their tall stories the 'realist" inclined an attentive ear. Thus at second hand be obtained his material for "Nana" and "L'Assommoir." he construct Big Gervaise and Nana out of his inner consciousness, as the German scientist did the camel, or, as the French artists say, out of chic. Lest this be doubted, it may be said that Zola naively admits the fact himself. No. Zola was not a realist. The genuine realist must describe the life he lives. This Zola did not flo. As he had crammed for the low life of the boulevards, outer and inner, in "Nasa" and "L'Assommoir," so he crammed for the life of the stock broker, the railway stoker, the coal miner, the peasant, in "Germinal," in "L'Argent," in "La Terre." So he crammed for the life of the great cities in two of the trilogy, "Rome," "Paris," "Lourdes." With astounding naivete, he told of having gone for six weeks to "study Rome." Rome in six weeks! Why, the old gray E. A. Ford, general pasenger agent of the city might be studied for sixty years and Pennsylvania, has issued a special rate still not yield up all her riddles.

TRADE PROSPECTS GOOD

CONFIDENCE MAINTAINED BY RE-SULT OF THE ELECTION.

Local Business in Nearly All Lines Continues to Increase-Grain Receipts Liberal.

A rainy forenoon checked trade somewhat yesterday, but everything points to a big November business, so favorable are conditions. Election is out of the way and the result means, it is thought, that present prosperity is to continue. The conditions in some lines of trade are out of the ordinary. That of dry goods is one. In many lines of desirable dry goods there is a scarcity. Especially is this true with woolen goods. Take the one item of woolen blankets, more of which have been sold in the last three says one of the oldest dry goods merchants. This, he thinks, is, in a measure, due to the failure of natural gas, as people will require such articles with the loss of gas and coming of cold weather, but all lines of woolen goods are difficult to get, and the same is true of several other lines with dry goods houses. Wholesale grocers are very busy, as they have been for months past, and prices of all staple groceries have ruled steady so long that the grocers do not hesitate to stock up liberally in staple groceries, such as sugars, coffees and canned goods, but in fancy groceries also they are liberal purchasers. On Commission row prices ruled much the same as for some time past. Jersey sweet potatoes are a little easier, while Irish po tatoes are unchanged. Apples of all grades are weaker in tone. Aside from this there is no change in domestic fruits. Fresh eggs are very scarce and storage eggs are being drawn on heavily. Poultry is unchanged, but prices rule firm. Choice butter is in excellent demand, dealers expecting further advances. Receipts of game are ucts from the cereals have a downward tendency and lower prices are thought to

Receipts of grain are more liberal than in the early part of October, and prices are better held than had been expected with the increasing receipts. The secretary of the Board of Trade yesterday reported prices on track to be as follows:

THE WONDER OF THE AGE

Odorless Gas Stove

Marks a revolution in gas heating and household sanitation. Perfect combustion is secured by the generation of intense heat and the thorough mixing progressively of the gas supply with air, by which it is possible to use at least forty-five cubic feet of air to every cubic foot of gas.

Its operation combines three important and indispensable factors-economy in fuel. perfect combustion, sterilization. in the "OMEGA" they are the result of mechanical combinations produced as the result of extensive scientific research. On exhibtion and for sale by The Indianapolis Gas Company 49 South Pennsylvania Strest.
